

Possessions

- Flail: A persuasive thresher (d6, Hefty)
Flower Crown: No weather or terrain may impede you; A1
Mourning Locket: Contains 3 strange seeds

Passion

- Aesthetics: Restores SPI whenever a beautiful outcome is chosen over a simple or practical one

Craft

- Conflagration: Conjure a flame between yourself and a target. The flames will spread quickly if able, but will always leave open a single path for you to retreat safely. Anyone caught in the flames takes (2d6) damage.

Initiating Omen

- The Story: You become absorbed in a story told, unbidden, by a woman you have never seen before. When it ends you find yourself alone in wilderness.

1 A knight haggard from restless journey: "I live to cover my shadow with blood; Beware, I see in you that there is dirt enough to cover your graves". Attempts to flee onward; In his wake, 3 slaughtered and dismembered.

2 Two waxen and rotting slain: "I do not know you.... but you may reach your hand into the shards of bone and know me". They seek their killer and will not be swayed from vengence.

3 A burning shack and a dubious man hunted by an unrelenting slain woman: "His flesh... I demand it. It is dearly owed and I will have it". The man claims she was set upon him by cruel miracle.

4 Four shackled slain, shambling, driven by a youthful knight in filthy plate. He knows their secret and the use of the tokens.

5 A desolate tree strung with two nooses. A boy hangs by one and a man by the other, both motionless.

6 You are set upon by up to six persons you have slain this season. You remain hunted until all have been fully dealt with.
